

Open Position: Core Faculty/Training Coordinator, PhD Program in Counselor Education and Supervision (DCES)

Description

Adler University – Chicago is seeking qualified candidates to fill a full time, core faculty/training coordination position for its Ph.D. Program in Counselor Education and Supervision, starting in January 2020.

Adler University is founded on an important idea: Our health resides in our community life and connections. This is what drives our groundbreaking curricula and commitment to social responsibility, from our campuses in downtown Chicago and Vancouver and through Adler Online. We work with those courageous enough to want to change the world. Our doctoral and master's programs-many of them nationally recognized in fast-growing fields-prepare students to lead social change in the fields of psychology and mental health counseling, criminal justice and public safety, business, public policy, and advocacy.

KEY QUALIFICATIONS:

Candidates are required to have a doctorate in Counselor Education and Supervision, preferably from a CACREP accredited program, along with teaching excellence, supervision of practicum/internship courses, clinical practice experience, and eligibility for Illinois counselor licensure. Preference will also be given to those possessing expertise in research design and methodologies, along with knowledge of advanced clinical approaches and procedures. In addition, candidates should be able to demonstrate competence in research, publication, and other scholarly activities. Familiarity with and experience in CACREP accreditation and requirements is preferred. Previous experience serving on dissertation committees and teaching doctoral level courses is a plus.

This position requires the teaching of evening and weekend classes, including blended or hybrid courses. Candidates are also expected to demonstrate excellent communication and interpersonal skills, and an ability to collaborate effectively with students, faculty, and professional staff and associates.

PRINCIPAL RESPONSIBILITIES:

Duties include coordinating and overseeing training, practicum, and internship for doctoral students, teaching primarily at the doctoral level and some master's level courses, advising and mentoring doctoral students, participation in institutional and departmental committees, dissertation committees, as well as participation in all admissions activities. Candidates must be willing to align with Adler University's mission and values which include training socially responsible practitioners, engaging communities, and advancing social justice.

APPLICATION PROCESS:

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until position has been filled.

Applicants should attach the following:

1. a curriculum vita
2. a minimum of three professional references with contact information

3. a statement of teaching philosophy
4. a cover letter of application addressing qualifications.

Applicants must fill the online application at the link below, by clicking the "Apply Now" link:
