

Fairfield
UNIVERSITY

- Fairfield University is a co-educational, comprehensive Jesuit university with a 200-acre campus located along the scenic shoreline community of Fairfield, CT. The University is comprised of approximately 3,500 undergraduate and 1,200 graduate students pursuing degrees within 5 schools: The College of Arts and Sciences, The Charles F. Dolan School of Business, The School of Engineering, The Marion Peckham Egan School of Nursing and Health Studies, and The Graduate School of Education and Allied Professions. As an expression of our Jesuit, Catholic mission and identity, Fairfield embraces a liberal humanistic approach to education, encouraging critical thinking, cultivating free and open inquiry, and fostering ethical and religious values.

- Job Description:

The Department of Counselor Education in the Graduate School of Education and Allied Professions invites applicants for a Tenure-Track Chair, Associate/Full Professor position. The Counselor Education Department has a state of the art clinical training facility and has been recognized as a leader in the state. We are seeking candidates with a demonstrated commitment to the professional identity of the counseling profession, the humanistic narrative, evidence of leadership and vision, interest in working in an interprofessional environment, and advocacy for the inclusion of clinical mental health and school counselors in the delivery of mental health services and wellness.

The successful candidate will be one who holds a doctorate degree in Counselor Education from a CACREP accredited program, meets the requirements of demonstrated successful experience in teaching graduate level courses, presents a record of research and scholarly publications, and provides evidence of service, leadership, administrative and coordination skills. In addition, a demonstrated commitment to integrating multiculturalism and technology into the curriculum is essential as is the eligibility to be licensed as a professional counselor in the state of Connecticut. A demonstrated commitment to supporting a department in a student centered university with a commitment to diversity and social justice is essential.

Candidates must:

- carry out responsibilities associated with the administrative and academic functions of the department and reporting to the dean;
- facilitate activities of the department, promoting cooperation among its members, fostering its commitment to continual improvement and encouraging the department's participation in a constructive and cooperative relationship with all segments of the school;

- maintain the structure and content of the department in accordance with national and state guidelines, such as CACREP and CAEP, and with requirements and recommendations of professional organizations;
- teach courses in CACREP core and clinical mental health and/or school counseling specialty areas, provide supervision of clinical practice,
- produce a focused line of research,
- take an active leadership role in professional organizations and university service,
- show evidence of implementing initiatives to increase equity, diversity, and inclusion at the program/departmental level

The salary range for the position is competitive, with the opportunity to teach in the summer session for additional remuneration. Appointment is effective as of September 1, 2020.
