

Assistant/Associate Professor in Counseling and Counselor Education

The Department of Educational Leadership, Policy, and Human Development seeks a dynamic scholar for an Assistant or Associate Professor position in Counseling and Counselor Education.

About the Program

The Counselor Education Program prepares culturally competent counselors and counselor educators to work collaboratively to help children, adults and families, and build healthier communities. The program offers master's degrees in Clinical Mental Health Counseling, School Counseling, and College Counseling and Student Development; a doctoral degree in Counseling and Counselor Education; and a certificate in Counselor Education. In addition, the program's Community Counseling, Education and Research Center (CCERC) provides an optimal clinical learning environment for students, while delivering world-class counseling services to the community in two downtown Raleigh locations.

Position Details

Responsibilities include: Maintaining a scholarly research, publication, and grant-writing record to improve counselor education and/or clinical mental health counseling that is aligned with a tenure track position in a research university (very high research activity); teaching courses and providing supervision in clinical mental health counseling within the Counseling Education program; providing support for on-campus and distance education components of the certificate, masters and doctoral programs in counselor education; recruiting, advising, mentoring, and supervising graduate students in research, clinical development, and dissertation supervision; providing service and leadership to the program area, department, college, university, and professional organizations; participating in outreach and service for department and college initiatives for underserved communities and high needs areas; engaging with stakeholders across the state of North Carolina; and contributing to the overall departmental and college missions through research, teaching, extension and service.

Required Qualifications

The successful candidate will have an earned doctoral degree from a CACREP Counselor Education Program focusing in clinical mental health counseling; demonstrated potential for excellence in research, teaching, extension and service; and a commitment to equity, diversity, and collaboration; demonstrated potential of successful leadership in the field nationally and collaboration with faculty colleagues and community partners locally; and an established program of research and a strong record of external research funding in counselor education and/or clinical mental health counseling commensurate with rank.

Application Process

Application materials should include a letter of interest, curriculum vitae and the names and contact information for three professional references at: insert posting link. General inquiries can be sent directly to Dr. Marc Grimmett, Search Committee Chair, at magrimme@ncsu.edu.

About the NC State College of Education

The NC State College of Education leads the way in North Carolina in preparing professionals, conducting research, and engaging communities to improve educational outcomes for all learners across the state and beyond. With two-thirds of its faculty grant active and over 120 funded research projects totaling over $90-plus million, the college ranks No. 1 in education research productivity in North Carolina and among the Top 6 percent of colleges of education in the nation. During the 2018-2019 fiscal year, the faculty had half of their proposals funded and brought in over $30 million in new funded research. They address society's most pressing educational challenges and convert their research to action and innovative solutions that transform teaching and learning environments across the lifespan, with particular strengths in improving technology-enhanced learning and teaching in STEM education and literacy; increasing diversity, equity and access in education; and innovating leadership development.

The college is composed of three academic departments: Educational Leadership, Policy, and Human Development; Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics Education; and Teacher Education and Learning Sciences, with approximately 124 faculty members and 92 support and professional staff. The college's 1,700 undergraduate and graduate students study across 60-plus degree programs that deliver highly-engaged and personalized academic experiences that prepare them to lead in the field of education. The college is also home to the Friday Institute for Educational Innovation and the proposed Belk Center for Community College Leadership and Research.
