

Assistant Professor, Clinical Mental Health Counseling
Department of Public Health
Brooks College of Health
University of North Florida

The University of North Florida, Department of Public Health is seeking an assistant professor for a 9-month tenure track position in the CACREP-accredited, master's program in Clinical Mental Health Counseling (CMHC) to start Fall 2020. The teaching load is three courses each fall and spring, with summer teaching available. The CMHC is a two-year, full-time, cohort model program that is designed to provide comprehensive training for individuals who wish to counsel diverse populations in a variety of mental health settings. It is a practitioner-scientist program consisting of 60 credit hours including 1,000 hours of clinical field experience. Please visit our website: https://www.unf.edu/brooks/public\_health/cmhc.aspx and the Facebook page: @unfcmhc for more information about the program. The Brooks College of Health is committed to diversity and inclusivity, and is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the UNF academic community. UNF, with a student body of 16,000, has been nationally recognized as a best college, for best value, and for commitment to diversity in reviews by Princeton, Forbes, Kiplinger, and Wall Street Journal/Times. UNF is located on a nature preserve in sunny northeast Florida midway between downtown Jacksonville and the Atlantic Ocean. Jacksonville has a population of almost one million, a large public health care system, and numerous cultural and natural attractions.
